Heidelberg Nexscan F4100 + NewColor OSX

Not-New

Nexscan F4100.

The next generation of scanning performance.

The next generation of scanning performance is available right now, and your future has never looked more productive. With our new Nexscan® F4000 flatbeds, Heidelberg® brings you a family of scanners that have been built from the ground up to meet your imaging needs well into the new millennium. We based the Nexscan F4000 on the quality heritage of Hell – the primary innovator of scanning technology for the past 20 years. Scanning the future – today.

Next we incorporated the best of TOPAZ®, the scanner that set the benchmark for flatbed performance in the 90s, with more than 5,000 working throughout the world. Then we raised the bar even higher with the development of our exclusive Direct Capture Technology with our new xyVariLens™ optical system and Vertical Camera Concept. The result is the Nexscan F4000 family – the flatbed scanners that bring you unprecedented levels of quality, productivity, reliability and cost-effectiveness.

The Nexscan F4100 is a universal and fast CCD-Scanner with flatbed functionality. The scanner comes with Heidelberg NewColor for Mac OS X. The Scanner has a CCD-Unit with 3x8.000 pixels. The optical resolution is 5.080 dpi.
