Fluke Etherscope Network assistant

EtherScope Network Assistant – your eyes in your Gigabit and Wireless network. Helps you to recognise problems and to solve faster than ever - or to prove at least, besides, that the problems are not caused by the network. This portable 10/100/1000 and 802.11a / b/g LAN Analyzer makes networks more clear, so that you can diagnose them proactively and reactively – inalienably on the constantly changing networks from today.

For it there is a network with wire-engaged and wireless connections – now a combined LAN Analyzer

If your network shows wire-engaged as well as wireless segments, you should own a tool which can analyse both connecting types. With his immediate recognition ulnae and quick Diagnosefunktionen helps you of the EtherScope LAN Analyzer in it, urgent problems on your wire-engaged / wireless network as well as problems which prevent an optimum performance to limit fast. EtherScope was developed as a mobile device, can be simply taken and be used and contains a huge number of built-in tools for the mistake removal and configuration on networks. We call this a quick assistant of incalculable value!

From the first sight
