Pure OBV. Flat Scart audio / video Cable

With the PureAV to videocables of Belkin you receive a more sharp, clearer picture. Advanced technology and high-quality materials provide for the fact that PureAV cable preserve the signal from disturbances and offer you the clearest screen resolutions. The normal videocables which are provided by videodevices reach no optimum achievement, because the leaders are produced of more inferior materials, as for example steel or not to quite pure copper. Signals get thereby lost, the picture resolution is insufficient and the colours are not real. The variety in PureAV to products offers you a choice in different achievement levels to improve the quality of your home cinema. This Scartflachkabel offers you a picture with clear, accurate colours and sharp details, because it has been developed especially to produce connections with the best quality. PureAV Scartflachkabel are the ideal solution for picture reproduction with high resolution.
