imacon Flextight 949

The Flextight 949 is the quickest high-end scanner. This scanner does the abbot branch process in high resolution and the "retouching" of dust and scratches in one single operation.

The Flextight 949 is a scanner which becomes a workhorse if you combine Him with one of both optional Batchfeeder, either for a mix from presentations or for framed slides passed away. The one in all scanner. He is also called THE ONE MACHINE.

Fantastic 200 mb per minute - and including the data storage on hard disk. This speed class was reached up to now only from photo rennet scanners by processing of film strip.

The new scanner of Imacon owns the improved FlexTouch tool to the dust and scratch distance. The result is comparable with this technology with the scanners which reach same with time-consuming Infrarot-Scans. The picture seems cleaner by which more digitale sharpness can be added again - without risk from körnigen Scans. A special virtue of the whole Flextight product family is her robustness. An easy however very stable construction is characteristic and today thus there are thousands of Flextight to the scanners which deliver qualitatively high-quality Scans to your users in the everyday application. Nevertheless, we have further optimised in connection with the substantial tempo increase of 949 the mechanical construction. We have laid out the mechanics of this scanner for a 10-fold higher life expectancy (Scans totally) - in comparison to the early Flextight models.
