Pico — the market leader in PC oscilloscope technology — have been manufacturing PC-based oscilloscopes since 1991.

The PicoScope 3000 series is the fourth generation of PC oscilloscopes from Pico. They offer unrivalled performance and are cost-effective replacements for traditional benchtop oscilloscopes.

PicoScope oscilloscopes simply connect to the USB port on any standard Windows based PC, making full use of the PC's processing capabilities, large screens and familiar graphical user interfaces. PC oscilloscope owners looking for a scope that offers outstanding performance and ease of use, will find the PicoScope 3000 series the perfect choice.

PicoScope oscilloscopes are supplied with PicoScope software (oscilloscope, spectrum analyzer, and meter). Also supplied is PicoLog data acquisition software that transforms your PC into a high-speed data logger.

PicoScope PC oscilloscopes have the following advantages over traditional bench top instruments:

- Waveform storage is limited only by the PC's storage capability
- Captured waveforms and instrument settings can easily be shared with others
- New functionality through free software upgrades
- Compact and portable design

Im Lieferumfang sind die notwendigen Adapter um bei einem Hercules Pro/Elite/Classic von Heidelberg oder Linotype-Hell das SOL Signal vom EC-Control Board zu messen und optimal zu justieren. Sie können das gerne hier in einer Schulung erlernen.

Fehler wie "Error in Rotating Mirror Unit/Fehler in der Drehspiegeleinheit" oder "no SOL Signal/kein SOL Signal bzw. kann SOL Signal nicht finden" können damit näher diagnostiziert werden.
Ein muss für jeden Techniker für Heidelberg/Linotype Hell Maschinen.

Wir bilden weltweit Techniker für Hercules Belichter aus.
