Eizo CG241W

Colourful, if it matters. Image editing and prepress as well as film and TV production set high standards for the digital image reproduction. A wide color space is among the special requirements, which meets with the EIZO CG241W. It has almost all the colors. They range from offset printing to color video standards such as EBU, SMPTE, ITU-709 and D-Cinema. Thanks to its hardware calibration shows the wide-screen colors with high precision. This is optimal, both for the prediction of results for retouching as well as video editing, preview and monitoring - everywhere where it counts.
